Soviet Leader Tells U.S.

Get Out Of Viet Nam!

MOSCOW (AP) — First Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev opened the Soviet Communist party's 23rd congress today with an appeal to the Chinese Communists for new efforts to resolve the split in world communism.

The Soviet party is ready to consider the differences with China and "we are confident that a way can be found to overcome" them, Brezhnev said.

He also accused the United States of aggravating the international situation and said the Soviet Union still stands for a settlement of the Vietnamese problem "on the basis set forth by the DRV (North Vietnamese) government and the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front (Viet Cong)."

The Communist program calls for recognition of the National Liberation Front as the representative of the South Vietnamese people and withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam.

"In connection with the American aggression in Viet Nam and other aggressive actions by U.S. imperialism, our relations with the United States have worsened and the blame lies on the ruling circles of the United States," Brezhnev said.

"As far as the U.S.S.R. is concerned, it is prepared to live at peace with all countries but will not resign itself to imperialist iniquity against other peoples.

"Live At Peace"

"More than once we proclaimed our readiness to develop relations with the United States, and stand by this position now. But this requires that the United States discontinue the policy of aggression.

"Good fruits of peaceful coexistence will not grow on the poisonous soil of aggression and violence."

Informed observers in Moscow said Brezhnev's statements appeared to be a restatement of the Soviet Union's view that it wants better relations with the United States but can do nothing until the United States ends its "aggression" in Viet Nam. Brezhnev's remarks appeared to lack any new, harder line toward the United States, the observers said.

A summary of Brezhnev's speech to the 5,000 Soviet delegates and 86 foreign delegations in the Palace of Congresses was broadcast by Moscow Radio and distributed by Tass, the Soviet news agency.

Carried Live

The opening formalities were carried live on radio and television, but the transmission ended as Brezhnev strode to the podium to give his report.

Moscow radio made clear that Brezhnev was proposing two different procedures for healing the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

One was a top-level Chinese-Soviet meeting "in Moscow or Peking," the other was a world Communist meeting. Brezhnev favored the later but China has so far refused to attend a world meeting.

Brezhnev called this the most experienced way for collective consideration of problems barring unity of the Communist camp. He warned that it was not to the advantage of any party to split the Communist camp and to the advantage of all to unify it.

Without mentioning China specifically, he said "deviations from the Marxist line to the left or to the right can be especially dangerous when combined with nationalism or chauvinism."

Communist China and its European satellite, Albania, had angrily rejected invitations to the congress, accusing the Soviet Union of treating them as enemies and conspiring with the United States to dominate the world.

Lights Still Blink In Michigan Sky

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — New reports of strange lights in the skies added today to the mystery of unidentified flying objects.

About 30 persons — including an off-duty deputy — phoned the Washtenaw County sheriff's office Monday night to report seeing objects overhead in the Ann Arbor area with flashing red, white and green lights.

At about the same time, police agencies in Bad Axe, 150 miles north, also were swamped with calls from residents who said they saw similar flying objects. Other reports came in from the Flint area.

Most of the reported sightings in the Ann Arbor area described the objects as flying less than 500 feet overhead. Previous reports last week placed them at 1,000 feet or higher.

Use Rifle Sight

Bingham, whose story was backed by his mother, said the objects moved with fantastic speed, zigzagged and moved up and down.

Another Ann Arbor resident who reported seeing lights in the sky was Richard Sober, an off-duty sheriff's deputy. He and a neighbor watched the objects — flashing red, white and green lights — from their front yards.

Near Flint, Police Chief Ford Wallace of Linden told of spotting blue, white and red lights several thousand feet overhead which he said hovered for a time and then rapidly moved away to the north.

West Chimes In

On the West Coast, in the San Gabriel Valley near Los Angeles, more than 200 persons called police and sheriff's deputies to report the sighting of baton-shaped, flame-red lights that revolved clockwise as they silently ascended into the night sky.

Strange flying objects were also reported Monday night in the Las Vegas, Nev., area. A commercial pilot, Ralph Salvory, said he observed four white objects at high altitude, flying in an easterly direction. He made a report to Nellis Air Force Base.

An Air Force investigator, Dr. J. Allen Hynek of Northwestern University, said last week that some of the sightings probably were swamp gas.

But Hynek, a prominent astrophysicist, emphasized his investigation was confined to only incidents reported on two nights.

The National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena called on the government to release all information it has on unidentified flying objects.

Marines Open New Drive On N Viet Troops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. forces pounded Communist territory by land, air and sea today but only the Marines reported major contact with the enemy.

The Leathernecks fought a three-hour battle with North Vietnamese regulars Monday on the central coast near Quang Ngai City, killing an estimated 150 Reds, a Marine spokesman said. The Communists offered stiff resistance to the first Marine helicopters, inflicting moderate casualties, but U.S. planes and artillery quelled the resistance.

Rising Buddhist political agitation in Saigon brought warning from Premier Nguyen Cao Ky that he will take "very strong measures" if necessary to halt the demonstrations.

Speaking to foreign newsmen while 1,000 students demonstrated in another part of the city against his military regime and the United States, Ky promised to act "not for the survival of the government but for the survival of Viet Nam."

The Marines ran into the North Vietnamese troops in Operation Indiana, a new campaign in Quang Ngai Province 330 miles northwest of Saigon, which has been under Viet Cong threat or control for years.

Intelligence reports identified the Reds as elements of North Viet Nam's 1st Battalion which has fought the Marines twice before this month. "They must be looking for a big victory in this area," a Marine officer said.

A daring charge against an enemy bunker by Marine Pfc. Alvin S. Lapointe of Sudbury, Mass., relieved one Marine company pinned down by a 20mm cannon. The 19-year-old Leatherneck crawled to wihin five feet of the bunker, jumped in and landed atop the gun. He killed one of the Red gunners with his bayonet and got the other with a grenade.

Living Cost Raise Sharp In February

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sharply higher food prices boosted living costs five-tenths of 1 per cent last month, the sharpest February rise in 15 years, the Labor Department reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said fresh vegetables prices rose 10.5 per cent to a record February level, meat prices rose nearly 2 per cent, eggs 4 per cent and poultry 8 per cent, making up three-quarters of the big jump in the consumer price index.

The rise brought prices to 2.5 per cent above a year ago, the biggest annual jump since 1958, said Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the BLS.

The increase brought the consumer price index to 111.7, meaning it cost $11.16 to purchase items in February that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Chase insisted the increases showed no sign of "inflationary psychology" among American consumers.

"There is no indication of panic buying" as there would be if such psychology prevailed, Chase said.

Speaking of the steep rise in food prices, Chase said, "The worst of the increases appears to be over."

Chase read a statement from the Agriculture Department saying farm prices are expected to decline substantially by the fourth quarter of this year. He said some of the expected declines may begin to show up in March.

Meat prices, which have been advancing sharply for many months, went so high they ran off the bureau's chart in hitting 115.7 per cent of the 1957-59 index.

Meat prices were 19 per cent above a year ago. Pork alone was 37 per cent higher.

Compared with a year ago, eggs were 27 per cent higher, milk was up 2.5 per cent and bread 6 per cent higher over the year.

Food prices as a whole averaged more than 6 per cent above a year ago, the bureau said.

The consumer price index held steady in January for the first time in a year. There had been a big increase —four-tenths of 1 per cent — in December.

Too Tired To Walk, Borrows Police Auto

DETROIT (AP) — Matthew Dunbar, 38, lost his car, police said, so he allegedly "borrowed" one with a wailing siren, a bright blue flasher and a two-way radio.

Dunbar, of Detroit, stood mute Monday to a charge of stealing a police car. Bond was set at $1,000.

The car had been missing from police headquarters for 40 minutes when residents on the near east side called officers to check on a man sitting in a patrol car that "just didn't look like a policeman."

Officers found Dunbar, siren wailing, flasher flashing and chatting on the two-way radio.

"I was just too tired to walk," he told officers.

Nesman Retires

LANSING (AP) — Harry Nesman, 68, chief of the vocational agriculture section of the State Department of Agriculture, will retire Thursday. Nesman has been working with Michigan farm youths for 42 years, 33 with the department and nine as a teacher, principal and school superintendent.

Florida Teener Held For $50,000 Ransom

AARON GOLDMAN, without shirt, talks with detectives at the front door of his Surfside, Fla., home near Miami Monday after his 18-year-old son, Daniel, was kidnaped by two gunman who demanded $25,000 ransom. Goldman said the armed men forced their way into the home and demanded money. When told they had none they took the youth and demanded ransom. Insert: Daniel Goldman. (AP Wirephoto)

Youth Seized When Dad Has No Holdup Cash

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In a flurry of new, secret activity, police intensified today an already massive hunt for kidnaped Daniel Goldman as the price on the youth's head doubled to $50,000.

After hours of anxious waiting for a telephone call from the kidnaper, four officers sped away from the 18-year-old victim's home this morning carrying a bulging, brown leather briefcase.

But there was no comment from investigators on whether the burly gunman who abducted the boy at gunpoint from his home had made a promised but apparently long-delayed contact.

The kidnaper slipped into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goldman through an unlocked patio door early Monday, bound the parents with venetian-blind cord and forced their only child to leave in his own white car.

Five detectives spent the night with his family, tape-recording every phone call.

As the search for Daniel and his kidnaper moved into the second day, a marked increase in police activity was observed at the Goldman home.

Officers and technicians entered and left the fashionable home every few minutes and another special telephone line — the third — was installed, apparently to permit additional monitoring of incoming calls.

Police said their fears began increasing when the kidnaper, described as extremely dangerous, failed to call the Goldmans between 6 and 7 p.m. as he had promised. In the call, he was to detail instructions for delivering the money.

Threat To Boy's Life

If he didn't get the $25,000 by 6 a.m. today he said the price would go to $50,000. Any trouble, he said, "and you'll never see your son alive again."

Mrs. Goldman went to bed early but got up each time the phone rang while detectives took down the conversation on tape.

Once she could be heard by reporters outside as she said: "Who is this? Who is this? Why don't you answer? Why don't you answer?"

Neighbors along the quiet street just off Biscayne Bay — where houses run from $50,000 to $300,000 — talked with police guarding the house, and with reporters.

Mrs. Walter Shwitzer described the quiet, studious high school senior as an intelligent, well-mannered boy.

"I always say to my son, 'Why can't you be more like that,'" she said.

Ham Operator

Daniel, whose birthday was Monday, is a muscular, 5-foot-11, 175 pounds. He is well liked by fellow students but took little part in extracurricular activities.

A ham radio operator, he earned $200 a month repairing television sets for friends. He was saving the money to pay for college where he planned to study electronics.

He wouldn't have to pay his way, because his father, Aaron, runs a successful construction company that is one of the largest builders of condominium apartments in south Florida.

It was Mrs. Shwitzer and her husband who were wakened by cries of "Help, call the police" coming from the Goldman house before dawn.

Goldman had worked his gag loose and started screaming. He and his wife weren't able to break their bonds because the kidnaper had wedged a knife and a pair of scissors into the knots so a struggle would cut their wrists.

Goldman said he didn't get a good look at the gunman in the dark but he seemed to be in his early 50s, wearing silver-rimmed sunglasses and a baseball cap. Goldman said he had a vague feeling he knew the man, who spoke to Goldman and his wife by name.

Police said the Goldmans' brown dog did not bark as the intruder climbed over a patio fence and slipped open the sliding glass door off the enclosed swimming pool. Two dogs across the street, usually boisterous, when strangers appear on the street at 4:30 a.m., also were silent, police said.

Senate Passes Exemption On Trees, Crops

LANSING (AP) — The Senate tried to untangle political knots today after overwhelmingly approving property tax exemptions for growing trees, crops and vines, and giving Ionia a school aid break.

The question was whether the two measures would be given immediate effect or delayed until a year from now.

Squabbling, threats and assertions of hurt feelings Monday led each party to withhold from the other votes which were needed for immediate effect.

The property tax measure, which must go to the House would exempt such items as cherry trees and blueberry bushes from property tax.

Republicans wanted to have the state reimburse local units for any revenues lost because of such exemptions but Democrats refused to furnish enough votes to even discuss the amendments.

The bill passed 30-6, but immediate effect, requiring 26 votes, could get only 24.

Earlier the Senate had approved a bill freeing about $120,000 in school aid for the Ionia school district and gave it immediate effect.

FBI Cites 14 Klan Members For Killing

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — A Mississippi Ku Klux Klan leader, described by the FBI as armed and dangerous, was sought by federal and state officers today in connection with the death of a Negro Civil rights worker.

Sam Holloway Bowers Jr., 41, said by the FBI to be the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in this deep south state, was also charged with being a fugitive.

Federal agents, joined by eight investigators from the Mississippi Highway Patrol, arrested 12 men identified as Klansmen Monday to climax an intensive investigation into the Jan. 10 death of Vernon Dahmer. A 13th man was arrested in Houston, Tex.

Eludes FBI

Bowers slipped away from FBI agents who had followed him Sunday night to a cafe in Laurel, his hometown.

Bowers was recently described by investigators for the House Committee on Un-American Activities as a Klan chieftain who exhorted his followers to keep a Bible handy and bear no malice when eliminating enemies.

Bowers and the 13 arrested men were charged with violating civil rights laws, including a post-Civil War statute making it a crime to harm or intimidate persons pursuing their constitutional rights.

The U.S. Supreme Court Monday unanimously upheld the use of the 19th century law against 17 Mississippians indicted in the 1964 slayings of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss.

When Bowers appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities Feb. 1, chief investigator Donald T. Appell told of what he said was the Klan stewardship of the Laurel man and said a Mississippi Klan order had been issued for the extermination of "The Goatee." Appell said "The Goatee" was Mickey Schwerner, one of the three killed near Philadelphia.

The 14 also were charged in the FBI complaint with violating a section of the 1965 Voting Rights Act which makes it illegal to harm or intimidate persons attempting to vote or urging others to vote. It was the first application of the law, a federal spokesman said.

Died Of Burns

Dahmer, 58, a prosperous landowner, was awakened before dawn Jan. 10 and found his home and nearby store in flames. He exchanged shots with his attackers but died of burns several hours later at a Hattiesburg hospital.

Dahmer was a former president of the Forrest County branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and had been active in voter registration campaigns.

Gov. Paul B. Johnson, whose home is at Hattiesburg, said the federal carges didn't mean the case was closed and that state agents "expect to stay with it until the end."

Strong Winds Delay Atlas

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Strong high-altitude winds today plagued an effort to launch an Atlas-Centaur rocket in an attempt to achieve the first double ignition of a hydrogen-powered engine in space.

The launching had been slated for 9 a.m. (EST) but weathermen called a halt in the countdown when they measured winds racing along at 132 miles an hour 42,000 feet above Cape Kennedy. This force possibly could destroy the rocket as it pushed upward through the atmosphere.

The ability to restart a liquid hydrogen engine in orbit is a key to future U.S. programs, including man-to-the-moon flights and unmanned lunar and planetary missions.

The Centaur upper stage is to fire itself into a 100-mile-high orbit and after a 25-minute coast period is to re-ignite and propel a dummy model of a Project Surveyor soft-landing moonship toward a spot in space which for test purposes represents the moon.

Hydrogen produces 40 per cent more thrust than other chemical rocket fuels, but is hard to handle because it must be kept at a temperature of 423 degrees below zero.

Indira Gandhi And President Agree To Build Learning Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, ending their White House talks today, have agreed on the formation of a $300-million educational foundation in India which Johnson said would help find "new ways to meet age-old problems."

The President announced the agreement Monday night at a formal White House dinner honoring Mrs. Gandhi, who arrived in Washington Monday for a state visit.

The two leaders continue their conference today. A communique was to be issued after their final 5 p.m. meeting. Mrs. Gandhi also was to address a noon luncheon of the National Press Club.

Hope For Aid

Indian officials make no secret of their hopes the talks will result in expansion of U.S. aid to India, now facing severe food shortages.

Mrs. Gandhi was reported pleased with her initial conferences with Johnson. "She was delighted at the warmth of her

UPCAP Proposes To EDA

Make Us Your U.P. Agent

UCAP asked the Economic Development Administration here Monday for a $334,000 annual project for 5 years to turn Upper Peninsula economic planning into action.

The proposal prepared by the staff of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress, headed by Executive Director Joseph Tuma, calls for an annual grant of $250,000 from EDA, and $83,000 a year in cash and in kind from Upper Peninsula counties, universities, school districts, industries and other organizations.

The delegate body's questioning about the big project, which will move UPCAP from annual budgeting of a quarter million dollars to a half million dollars, was brief. Ronald Calery of Sault Ste. Marie moved that the project be approved in principle and that a study committee review it before the delegate body's final approval.

Haste Prevails

But Alex Goldade of Brimley, a leader in Michigan board of supervisor organizations and a champion of grass roots government, asked what would happen to UPCAP if the proposal were not implemented quickly? He was told that UPCAP's current EDA grant runs out on April 30. UPCAP operates on government grants in payment for technical services supplied on federally financed projects in the U. P.

"If the executive committee feels that this project is essential to UPCAP I move that we approve it as it is today," said Goldade .Mrs. Michael DeFant of Marquette seconded the motion and it carried with no dissenting votes and with Luce and Iron county delegates voting "present".

Tuma stressed that the proposal was subject to review by the executive committee before presentation to EDA and that the proposal as returned to UPCAP by EDA might be modified.

Rated Inevitable

Observers were still seeing political undertones and overtones in UPCAP's expansion of federal officials in control of Upper Peninsula economic development, civic works and educational activities, but the reaction of the delegate body to the proposal for enlargement of UPCAP staffing in the U. P. with federal payroll was strongly affirmative throughout.

Some of the support may have been reluctant, but it seemed to regard the action taken as inevitable if there is to be action on U. P. planning for economic growth and social improvement. Speakers who questioned the proposal made clear that they were not opposing, only seeking information.

There wasn't much information apart from the basic money figures and a description of the staffing planned. The proposal will be a 40-page document for EDA.

Project Features

It will propose:

—That UPCAP be the management agent for 6 multi-county "Development Areas" in the U. P. (Six Community Action Agencies financed by EDA are already implementing its economic opportunity (War on Poverty) program in the U. P.)

For the grant UPCAP would —Establish Economic Development Area Committees for planning and action programs, both public and private, in the six areas.

—Develop comprehensive plans and action programs for economic development on an Upper Peninsula-wide basis using local, state and federal services and encouraging and assisting private development.

—Provide organizational, administrative and technical staff to prepare development proposals funded from public or private or combined sources, including applications to EDA and all other agencies.

Control of Projects

—Develop administrative relationships with professional and technical groups inside and outside the U. P. These arrangements are to include consultative, contract and "in kind" arrangements with educational institutions, foundations and private organizations and firms.

Proposed is an Economic Development Area Committee control of projects in the areas and an UPCAP control of U. P.-wide projects. UPCAP proposes to establish liaison with the Office of Economic Expansion of the new Michigan Department of Commerce, and to serve as district management agent and review and submit U. P. applications to EDA.

John Kavanagh, chief of the Office of Economic Expansion, Michigan Department of Commerce, said the state is asking a grant from EDA to plan district organizations throughout the state for implementation of development programs. He said that Governor Romney has recommended to EDA that the Upper Peninsula be designated an economic development district and that UPCAP be designated as the administrative agent for the district.

To Enlarge Staff

The Economic and Public Works Act provides that the Secretary of Commerce shall designate economic development districts, with the concurrence of the states. Governor Romney has now done this for the U. P.

To its present staff of 16—8 professionals and 8 non-professionals, UPCAP proposes to add 8 as EDA's administrative agent in the U. P.:

—An EDA representative in each of the 6 economic development areas, selected by UPCAP, to serve in general economic development and be a staff person for one of UPCAP's standing committees (tourism, fisheries, transportation, etc.).

—A technical assistance liaison representative and programmer to arrange for technical assistance, physical planning and management consultative services.

Gains Reported

—A rural and small communities economic planner to be selected by UPCAP with advice of Michigan State University Extension Service. He'll prepare proposals for such areas and involve the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Department of Interior in programs emanating from EDA and other sources.

The meeting in which UPCAP, organized four years ago as a grass roots government effort to stimulate economic growth, plunged deeper into federal government activities heard reports of general economic gains and of progress in economic planning. It agreed with speakers who said that there is now need for an agency to trigger planning into action projects, a function which UPCAP proposes to stimulate with its EDA project.

Goose Chase?

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Is the agency on a wild goose chase?" the senator asked of the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., is sparring with the service over its attempts to save the Hawaiian nene goose from extinction. He noted that the federal government spent $77,250 and the State of Hawaii spent $16,146 during the last five years on the program.

That's $502 for each of 186 nene geese reared in captivity, the senator noted.

Accident Victim Still Hospitalized

James Farrel, 15, of Schaffer, who was injured in a traffic accident Saturday which took the life of Albin T. Larson, 18, of Danforth, was still reported in "fairly good" condition today at St. Francis Hospital.

State Police said further investigation of the case revealed that Farrel was not turned away from one residence when he attempted to call help after the accident, but was not able to call because the home did not have a telephone.

Officers said Farrel was given dry clothes by Frank Deptula of Perronville, who then brought the boy to the Joseph Glovaci residence to call help.

The accident happened on M-569 west of Perronville at Ten Mile Creek. A car driven by Larson hit the bridge and flipped into the creek, police said.

Watts Charges Are Dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Municipal Judge Kenneth L. Holaday dismissed charges Monday against two brothers accused of taking part in a shooting believed to have triggered the March 15 riot in Watts.

The prosecution's only witness said he could not positively identify Carlos Garcia, 19, and his brother, Robert, 20, as being in a car from which a shotgun blast was fired into a liquor store March 14.

Jutilas Will Face Charges

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago couple charged in Hancock, Mich., with murdering their adopted son eight years ago agreed Monday to return to Michigan to face the charge.

William Jutila, 43, and his wife, Jilja, 42, appeared before Judge Daniel J. Ryan in Circuit Court. They denied any connection with the slaying but signed waivers of extradition before Chief Judge Alexander Napoli.

Jutila told Napoli, "I want to go back."

His wife said "I am innocent and I want to prove my innocence."

Ryan freed the couple after noting that police had neglected to attach a complaint to the court file. They were rearrested on the police complaint and held in Cook County Jail to await arrival of A. Frans Heiderman, a Houghton County, Mich., deputy sheriff, who told police he would come for them Thursday.

The couple were arrested Saturday night on a complaint signed by Jutila's brothers accusing them of killing the boy, Markku, 6, in 1958.

Police quoted the brothers as saying they were told conflicting stories by the couple about the absence of the child.

Police said Jutila told them after lengthy questioning that Markku died in December 1958 in their home in Houghton after being beaten by his wife.

Police quoted the Jutilas as saying they took up residence in Chicago where Mrs. Jutila started working as a cleaning lady.

They said a check with Milwaukee police showed the body of a boy had been found near Mequon, Wis., where the couple said they had placed the boy's body in a culvert in 1958, and that the description matched that of the boy.

Jutila said he did not work because he was disabled in an accident in a Michigan copper mine.

Tech Students To Give Blood Apr. 4

HOUGHTON — Michigan Tech's engineers about five years ago offered to sell their blood to raise money for the University in a financially austere time. This time, from April 4-6, they will donate their blood for American fighting men in Viet Nam. The three days have been designated "Operation Tap-Toot." ("Toot" is a nickname given to Tech students.) Tech coeds, challenged the engineers to a "We can give more blood than you, relatively speaking," contest last week. Since men outnumber women about 16-1 at Tech, the competition will be computed on a percentage basis.

Youth, 20, Jailed For Contributing To Delinquency

Paul E. Johnson, 20, of 1008 2nd Ave., S., pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors and was sentenced to 30 days in the Delta County jail when arraigned before Justice A. J. Mortier of Gladstone Monday.

State Police said Johnson was arrested in connection with a party held at a cottage near Nahma which involved minor girls. He was the fourth person arrested on the case.

Marines Test Machine Gun

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps is testing in Viet Nam a machine gun so light it can be fired from any position and can be fitted with a bayonet for hand-to-hand fighting.

This weapon, generally fired from a bipod — a two-legged mount, is about half as heavy as most machine guns in its class. Its ammunition is so much lighter that its crew can carry about three times as many rounds.

The machine gun is a member of the Stoner 63 small-weapons family. This is a novel system in which six different guns can be fashioned from one basic component by interchanging parts.

Eight of the belt-fed Stoner light machine guns are being evaluated by the Marines in the Viet Nam war, Marine sources said today. The testing began last month and will continue for an indefinite period.

The Stoner system is one of those being studied by the Army which is taking a long look at the entire spectrum of small weapons. Out of that study may come a new standardized infantry-type weapon for U.S. ground forces, both Army and Marine.

The Stoner machine gun, like its other five cousins in the system, fires the 5.56-millimeter .223-caliber) bullet which also is used by the lightweight M16 rifle now being introduced into Viet Nam in considerable number for .S. ground troops as well as for South Vietnamese and South Korean soldiers.

Like the M16, the Stoner features high muzzle velocity which heightens its killing power at short range.

The Stoner's features, its backers say, are accuracy, reliability, ruggedness and ease of maintenance in the field — all, together with light weight, desirable in the kind of fighting being waged in Viet Nam.

Bar Head Dies

MONROE (AP) — Attorney Philip A. Costello, 41, re-elected earlier this month as president of the Monroe County Bar Association, died Monday at his home after a long illness.

John Campana Dies Suddenly

MUNISING—John P. Campana, 50, Alger County extension director the last eight years, died unexpectedly in his sleep early Monday in his home, 203 E. Onota St.

Mr. Campana was born Sept. 19, 1915, in Caspian. He came to Munising from the Copper Country in 1957. He was a graduate of Stambaugh High School and received a degree from Michigan State University in 1939.

After graduation from MSU, he taught vocational agriculture at Baraga High School and spent several years as director of agricultural training in the Copper Country, then taught English and biology at Lake Linden High School.

Mr. Campana served with the armed forces from 1941 to 1946, rising to the rank of major.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth; three daughters, Julie, a student nurse at St. Joseph's School of Nursing in Hancock; Mary, a student at Northern Michigan University, and Jane at home, and a son, Robert, at home.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Wednesday in Sacred Heart Church, Munising.

Plan New Ohio Boundary Suit

LANSING (AP) — A legislator asked Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to bring suit in U. S. Supreme Court to settle the Michigan-Ohio boundary dispute.

A Kelley aide said the suit would be speedily prepared if the requesting resolution of Rep. Raymond Kehres, D-Monroe, is passed by both houses of the Legislature as is expected.

Mostly at issue are water and bottomland rights in Lake Erie.

A committee headed by Kehres investigated the problem with Kelley and found that the boundary line had never been officially determined.

It proposed that a joint Michigan-Ohio commission establish the boundary but the idea was rejected by Ohio Gov. James Rhodes, who suggested the dispute be referred to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kehres agreed that "this appears to be the only way we can settle this problem once and for all." His resolution, asks Kelley "to take such legal action and filei and prosecute such legal proceednge as may be necessary in the Supreme Court. . ."

At issue is ownership of about 200 square miles of land extending east and northeast in a triangle from the eastern land boundary between Michigan and Ohio.

Michigan claims the boundary in the lake should continue east until it meets the international boundary between the United States and Canada. Ohio claims the lake boundary should extend northeast until meeting the international boundary.

Commercial fishing operations would be affected by the boundary decision. Michigan has just passed legislation banning most out-of-state commercial fishermen from Lakes Huron and Erie.

Progress Seen In Auto Safety By Gov. Romney

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Government - designed cars" may be in the future if federal car safety standards come about, Gov. George Romney of Michigan said Monday.

Romney, a former American Motors Corp. president warned against too great government intervention in the car safety field at a meeting of the District of Columbia Young Republicans although he also applauded the Congressional car safety hearings.

He forecast that as a result of the hearings "you're going to see progress in the field of safety as you've never seen before."

VIRILE CHARACTER—Actor Nigel Green rates a heman role in the new film, "Tobruk," now being made in the California desert near El Centro. Green will be remembered as the silky-smooth heavy in "The Ipcress File."

Our Highway Murders

Every week, more Americans die on our highways than have been killed in the war in Viet Nam in a year of combat.

It is estimated that by 1975—that's only 9 years off—an estimated 100,000 Americans will lose their lives in traffic accidents every year.

The nation has been urged to do something to curb this dreadful slaughter — 50,000 Americans in 1965 alone—for years. But progress has been slow. The traffic volume increases on the highways. More people die.

Now the federal government is stepping into the act forcefully and there is every indication that there will be some changes made. It is interesting to note that while Congress, under the leadership of Senators Bobby Kennedy (D-New York) and Ribicoff (D-Connecticut) probes deeply into auto safety the Michigan Legislature refuses to do anything about it.

On March 21 at Lansing auto makers, educators, insurance companies, traffic safety commission and state officials pleaded for a mandatory motor vehicle inspection law. Not a contrary voice was raised by witnesses before the House Public Safety Committee, but a Democratic legislator said "The votes aren't there" to pass the requested legislation. They weren't there last year either, although 20 other states have adopted such a law.

Michigan's Legislature thought so poorly of it that Rep. Maxcine Young (D-Detroit) chairman of the Safety Committee said she could get only three other members of her eight member committee to attend the hearing.

The proposed measure would require that every motor vehicle in Michigan be inspected for brakes and equipment at least once each year at a state-operated or state-licensed inspection station. The bill was urged by Governor Romney, sponsored by 35 state representatives, favored by four out of every five Michigan citizens surveyed. Chrysler Corp. chief safety engineer Roy Heusler said an "eyeball" inspection by a walk-around checker to point out a burned-out headlight "can win only contempt of the public" and he urged a complete yearly inspection of autos for safety.

Senator Kennedy said that the auto accidents can be reduced in number and made less deadly by improved driver licensing, improved driver education and stronger traffic law enforcement. But he says that the factor in auto safety most often neglected is the design of the automobile itself; that the auto industry isn't giving Americans motorists the safety which they demand and deserve.

Cars can be made safer, he says, but auto makers aren't doing it. "The truth is that engineers are not asked to design for safety," said Kennedy. "In Detroit, all too often, the laurels go to the engineer who designs a flashy but deadly chrome gadget for the dashboard. Automobiles are not subject to any federal regulations and 570 passengers die for every 10 billion miles of auto travel."

President Johnson, in proposing to Congress the adoption of his Traffic Safety Act of 1966 doesn't agree with Senator Kennedy's indictment of the auto industry. The usual assessment of the situation is that the major responsibility for accidents falls upon drivers first, and next upon the state and local authorities for policing and highway design and last upon the vehicles themselves.

The first need is to prevent accidents and the state legislatures have been dragging their feet on this one, just like Michigan's Legislature is dragging its feet today. In the nation the explanation of this legislative balk most usually advanced is that so many legislators are lawyers involved in personal-injury law practice.

The federal government is now stepping into this vacuum with the proposal of:

1. Increased federal grants to the states for driver education and licensing, improved traffic control, regular vehicle safety inspections, police and emergency medical services.
2. Setting of safety standards for all cars and giving manufacturers two years to meet them.
3. Drawing all highway safety programs under the new Secretary of Transportation.

A sorry side result of Congress' inquiry into auto safety was the apology by General Motors President James M. Roche to the Senate subcommittee making the inquiry for GM's earlier falsehood in saying that its investigation of Ralph Nader had been only "routine." Nader wrote a controversial book about the auto makers and their cars titled "Unsafe At Any Speed." The snooping went far beyond Nader's competency to criticize automobile safety engineering and probed his sex life, political beliefs and regard for Semites.

Safety on the highways is hard to come by.

Feat

A 12-year-old boy stole a big interstate bus in Washington, D.C., the other day.

That in itself was noteworthy, even in these days of expanding child precocity.

But this kid was even more unusual. He drove that big bus through the midafternoon traffic jam on Pennsylvania Avenue, out through historic Georgetown, across the Potomac River and along the busy highways of Fairfax County until the police caught up with him.

He didn't hit anything or anybody, and he apparently drove enough like a licensed bus driver not to get a traffic officer on his trail until all police had been alerted to the theft.

He must be punished, of course. But after he has atoned for his act and is properly repentant, someone ought to take him in tow and make a driver instructor out of him.

But they'd better be quick about it, before he gets old enough to regard safe driving as kid stuff.

That usually happens around 16.

Deferred Payment

In case you aren't aware how far gone the 20th century is, for young men and women just starting out on their careers, "dollars deducted for retirement and Social Security from their first pay checks will probably not return to them until the second decade of the next century."

The words in quotation marks are by Prof. Paul W. McCracken, University of Michigan economist, who does not suggest that students begin thinking about retirement already.

His point is that it is time to realize that our colleges and universities are in the business of educating citizens for the 21st century and should raise their sights accordingly.

"We Are Making Great Strides!"

Dairymen'd Rather Switch Than Milk

Beef Profits Are Cased

EAST LANSING — Many Michigan farmers are switching to beef cattle operations because of the optimistic outlook for the state's beef industry. But an agricultural economist says many will take a "financial beating" unless they know at what point it is profitable to produce beef cattle.

Professor C. R. "Ray" Hoglund, Michigan State University agricultural economist, recently conducted a survey of the investments, expenses and net returns for 25, 50 and 200 beef cow herds with varying crop yields and animal performance. Here's what he found:

The 25-cow beef enterprise was most profitable on farms where the operator worked off the farm or, because of age, wanted a less intensive farming enterprise than dairying. It was unprofitable when it was necessary to make large investments in buildings and machinery. These small beef cow enterprises were usually most profitable in northern Michigan areas.

The supplementary beef enterprise of about 50 cows has become more important in corn growing areas in converting corn stalks, unused grass and other forages into beef. But, contends Hoglund, the 50-cow enterprise surveyed required a 90 per cent calf drop and excellent crop yields to cover all cash expenses, depreciation, 5 per cent for interest on the investment and a profit return to labor when 100 bushel corn land was used for pasture. When there is unused grass available, and corn stalks are used for limited growing and silage, profit prospects are much better.

"A 20 per cent reduction in feed yields in this 50-cow operation reduced net income by $25 a cow," reported Hoglund. "A 5 per cent lower calf drop lowered net income by nearly the same amount."

Hoglund found the full-time beef cow enterprise of 200 or more cows was the "most profitable in relationship to alternative enterprises in Northern Michigan." The 200-cow enterprise required from 900 to 1,300 acres of land and, with good management, netted 5 per cent on the investment and a return to labor and management of from $1,500 to $6,000 depending on crop yields, calf weights and per cent calf crop.

"But a $1 change in price received for feeder calves added or subtracted $4 to $5 per head or $800 to a $1,000 for a 200-cow operation," warned Hoglund. "Labor income would be increased by $1,000 by saving 90 per cent rather than 85 per cent of the calf drop. Increasing calf weights by 50 pounds added $1,500 to labor income."

Hoglund said it is likely that the number of beef cows in Michigan will be doubled in the next 10 to 15 years. However, the profitability of beef cows in Michigan will depend on low-cost land or low rental rates, an abundance of low-cost forage, limited alternative enterprises and high levels of crop and livestock production.

"These factors will determine whether it's profitable for Michigan farmers to produce more of the cattle fed out in its feed lots," contended Hoglund. "At present, one-third of the cattle now fed out are produced outside of the state. Furthermore, it is estimated that because of increasing population and higher per capita consumption, we shall be needing 25 to 30 per cent more beef in 10 years, Hoglund concludes.

"Individual beef producers cannot expand their operations without careful consideration of the economic factors involved."

A TYPICAL Upper Peninsula beef herd is symbolized by this one on the Potvin Brothers ranch north of Rapid River in Delta County, with whitefaced Hereford cows accompanied by their calves. Beef herds—most of them Herefords—have replaced the long-familiar black and white Holstein dairy cattle on hundreds of Upper Peninsula farms, converting grass into beef instead of milk. 'Job To Be Done'

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — All protest marchers don't keep on marching.

The other day a young man who had been a marcher in protest parades in New York against the war in South Viet Nam came over to my house.

He came by because we'd known each other for some years—and he had something on his chest.

He said he had volunteered for service. Specifically, he had asked for duty in Viet Nam. He wanted to get into guerrilla-type operations, preferably in the Air Force.

He's 18 and strong as an ox.

He'd taken his physical, but was worried that perhaps he wouldn't pass because of an injury to his arm when he was a boy. He wears a piece of steel in that arm.

★ ★ ★

He was off the marchers and young men who wear their hair long. He has cut his hair now. "I've grown up," he said. "I am through with that sort of thing. (He looked it, too.) I've stopped drinking and I've cut back heavily on my smoking."

He wants to do something before he goes so that people will forget the things he got into before.

He has started to help on work with younger teen-agers in a church neighborhood program—and doing it well.

Certainly there are no statistics on how many other marchers have changed their minds, or on how many others will change in the months ahead. There's no way of knowing how typical — or untypical — this young man is. Obviously, he was not one of the organizers or the hard core.

It's not even clear what made him change.

★ ★ ★

But one thing is certain. No one forced him to his new way of thinking. He made up his own mind in his own time in his own way.

So, by the way, did a number of his friends.

There seems to be a strong feeling among the older teenage young men I talk with these days that there's a job to be done in Viet Nam. They're not anxious to die. They aren't eager to be soldiers. Most of them have strong ambitions and hopes in civilian life. They want to be attorneys, accountants, plumbers, engineers.

But they feel a strong pull that "somebody has got to do something." They're not willing to run away from this responsibility.

Some are volunteering for service. More are quietly but definitely rearranging their personal plans to be ready for the draft. There's little of the band playing or breast-beating among these young men. But there seems to be a certainty in their minds that the war in Viet Nam must be won.

Having reached that conclusion, they almost seem to be taking Viet Nam as a matter of course—a tough, unpleasant job that must be done, "so let's be on with it."

The Doctor Says:

Q — A urologist says I have interstitial cystitis. What is the cause? What is the best treatment?

A — Interstitial cystitis is a chronic inflammation of the deep layers of the bladder with small ulcers. It is more common in women than in men. It is often associated with diverticulitis (infected outpouchings) of the colon. It may be caused by a variety of germs, but the usually harmless colon bacillus is a frequent offender.

The disease is easy to treat but hard to cure. Antibiotics and urinary antiseptics offer the best chance for a cure. One report suggests that in some women emotional stress may bring on an attack and when such is the case an injection of ergotamine taken as soon as the attack starts will give prompt relief.

Q — I get attacks of acute catarrhal cystitis. What would cause them and what can be done for them?

A—This, too, is usually caused by an infection which may reach the bladder through the blood stream or from the outside, especially if it has been necessary to insert a catheter into the bladder. It may occur in both men and women.

Prompt treatment is necessary to prevent it from becoming chronic. Drugs to alkalinize the urine, combined with a low protein diet, will help to shorten the course of the disease but antibiotics are required to get rid of the causative germs.

Q — The doctor says the outlet of my bladder is shrinking and will have to be stretched. Is this a major operation? What would cause the shrinking?

A — Stricture of the outlet of the bladder may occur in both men and women, usually as a result of an injury or infection. The stretching is usually accomplished by passing metal sounds into the bladder and gradually increasing the caliber of the sounds. This would not be considered a major operation and is often done in the doctor's office but it must be repeated two or three times a week for several weeks.

Q — My lab report read: "Culture shows alpha hemolytic streptococcus. What does this mean?

A — Alpha hemolytic (blood-destroying) streptococcus is the germ responsible for scarlet fever, erysipelas, and many cases of wound infection and sore throat. It is widely distributed in our environment. Whether it causes illness depends on the size of the dose of the germs introduced into the body, the virulence of the strain of the germ and the state of immunity of the invaded body.

These germs may invade any part of the body. An acute infection may lead to such complications as rheumatic fever, rheumatic heart disease, nephritis (Bright's disease) and pneumonia.

Ann Landers

Such An Accusation Could Be Expensive

Dear Ann Landers: When a handsome, brilliant, promising and dearly-loved young man just 22 years of age commits suicide what can his parents say to themselves? You have so many answers for others—do you have an answer for us? SHATTERED MOTHER AND DAD

Dear Mother and Dad: Life is filled with mysteries. Why, out of a row of glorious tulips, straight and strong, their proud heads turned upward, does one tuilp suddnely wither and die? The same sun and soil and loving care nurtured them all.

It's useless for me to say, "Don't blame yourselves" — this asks the impossible. But as time passes, and reason replaces your tortured emotions, you will blame yourselves less and less. For you will come to realize that many things are beyond your control — that total understanding of another human is impossible and each of us remains part stranger even to those we love most.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I bought a large old home and had it converted into an apartment house. We have six apartments besides our own. All our tenants are lovely people except one young woman who certainly fooled us when we rented to her.

This woman works part-time in a store during the day but I think she uses this job as a cover-up for what she does at night. I have no proof, but it doesn't make sense that a girl would entertain four or five male friends almost every evening in the week just because she's sociable.

My husband says we should mind our own business. What do you say? — WONDERING.

Dear Wondering: If this girl is doing what I think she's doing, it is indeed YOUR business because you own the property. Ask a lawyer how to handle the situation. If your guess (and mine) is wrong, an accusation of this kind could be mighty expensive.

Dear Ann Landers: I went with a girl (I will call her Cynthia) for 18 months. When we started to date she was a well-developed 15 and I was several years older. Because of her youth and lack of experience I was able to persuade her to do some things that I am now deeply ashamed of.

Recently, at my suggestion, we agreed to cancel our steady arangement. We have a standing date, however, every other Saturday night. I like Cynthia a great deal but I don't think I am in love with her.

Now my conscience is bothering me because I'm afraid I have started her on something that may lead her into serious trouble. She denies it violently but from what I've heard from others I suspect she is not telling me the truth.

Do you think I owe this girl marriage? Cynthia is a mature 18 and has had one year of college. I am still in graduate school. I'd appreciate your opinion. — GUILTY

Dear G: You have bought your guilty conscience and now you'll have to live with it. But don't marry the girl because you think you owe it to her. The damage you have done is quite enough.

League Puts Council Candidates On Display

Eight of the nine candidates for the Escanaba City Council are in virtual agreement on the city's "most urgent issue" and most of the other questions put to them by the League of Women Voters.

The candidates, in an amiable and uncritical examination of city affairs, replied to questions at a League-sponsored session at the Chamber of Commerce building Monday night.

Ms. N. L. Lindquist, League president, greeted the candidates and the audience that filled the room. The candidates present, in the order in which they were seated and questioned, were:

For the four-year term - Edward A. Gosselin, Mrs. Frank Neumeier, Harold J. Vanlerberghe, Edward J. Cox, Glenn Moreau.

For the two-year term - Cecil Chase, Arol Beck, Lyle Plowman.

Manager Role

Mason E. Johnson, candidate for the four-year term, was absent.

At the city election to be held on Monday, April 4, the voters will choose two councilmen for terms of four years and one councilman for a term of two years to fill an unexpired term.

Mrs. Lorraine Owen, the League's voter service chairman, introduced the candidates and read the questions. The League posed three questions and there were a few questions submitted from the floor.

The League's questions were:

1 - In Escanaba we have a City Manager-Council form of government. Under this plan what is your understanding of the relationship of the City Council to the City Manager?

The candidates in replying to this question were in agreement that the Council is the policy making and legislative body and that it leaves administration of city operations (side from finance and law) to the city manager.

Recreation Issue

2 - In your opinion what is the most urgent issue facing the City government? What would be your recommendations?

The replies of the candidates ranged rather widely on this one, but the majority were of the opinion that the "most urgent issue" is to provide adequate recreation facilities and an improved recreation program for the people of the community — with emphasis on youth. Some comments:

Gosselin — "Our city is in need of a more encompassing youth program. Our current recreational system is not enough. The acute need, as I see it, is after high school. The 18 to 21 age bracket. These people are stymied for recreational activities that are socially acceptable."

Chase — "In my mind there are a number of issues: Namely airport improvements, urban renewal, industrial expansion, recreation, investiment of our million dollars, harbor improvements, community building."

Money Matters

Beck — "For the first time in many years, it would appear that the major problem facing the city will be one associated with growth. This is a welcome problem. I recommendthat we use all the resources at our command to insure proper, orderly and logical growth of all phases of the City of Escanaba."

Mrs. Neumeier — "The most important matter before the next Council, as far as I can see, is the budget for the coming year. I do have one personal trait which may be old-fashioned in this day and age. I am a stickler for thrift and respect the wise use of money. The Council takes on the great responsibility to spend other peoples' money; this means that there must be a continual striving to 'stretch' the tax dollar so that people get the maximum value for each dollar spent."

Planning Study

Plowman — "I believe the most urgent issue is providing recreational facilities for people of all ages. I feel there is much to be done in this area in Escanaba. Club 314 has outlived its usefulness and most young people prefer not to or will not go there."

Vanlerberghe — "There are a number of urgent issues in the sense that they are important to the interest and growth of the community. One issue which is receiving immediate attention, is the parking study of the business district. This study is being done under a contract with a professional planning firm, Bartholomew Associates."

Cox — "There are several issues facing our city government which will have to be solved now and in the future. But the issue that I feel is most urgent at this time is recreation for our teen-age girls and boys and our elderly people. I say this because there has not been too much done about this problem."

Moreau — "In my opinion the most urgent issue facing the city government at present is that of the airport expansion program. We must either progress when opportunity presents itself or our community will deteriorate like we have seen in other communities where the town has become a ghost town."

The League's third question to the candidates was a request for them to estimate the number of hours per month required to perform the duties of a councilman.

Airport Location

The number of hours mentioned in reply ranged to 30 and more, with the added obligation of service on the County Board of Supervisors.

Questions in writing were received from the floor. These, with summaries of the answers, included:

Is the municipal airport well located?

Answer: Development should continue in the present location, but the north-south runway will have to be moved farther west. There is no special danger to the community because of the airport's location. Planes that collide in the air, for example, would come down miles away. "How about North Central Airlines making a greater contribution to the airport improvement?" asked Mrs. Neumeier.

Beck: "I was on the School Board when the Area High School was built. The question of the airport and school location was thoroughly investigated, and before we went ahead we had the approval of state and federal authorities."

Question: Where and at what date did the Council take action on the agreement to invest $950,000 in city funds to encourage Harnischfeger Corp. expansion in Escanaba?"

Councilman Vanlerberghe replied that negotiations began last November. The agreement has not been finalized but there is a record of the proposal on file at the City Hall, he said. "When it comes time for action on it, and if I find the contract such as not to be satisfactory, then I will not go along," he added.

HN High School To Host District Forensic Meet

Fifty students of District 10 will participate in the district Forensic Festival Friday, April 5 from 2:30 to 6. The festival is being hosted by the Holy Name High School.

Students from each of the participating schools will be scheduled at two different locations, the Holy Name multi-purpose room and the Escanaba Area High School Auditorium.

Schools participating include: Escanaba Area High School, Gladstone, Holy Name, Rapid River and Rock. Judges will be: Jack Romstad, James Wren and Leona Dougherty of Bay de Noc Community College; Carl Olson and Marvin Frederickson, Manistique High School and Mrs. June Hanson of Wells School.

The nine categories in which the students will participate are: original oratory, oratorical declamation, dramatic monologue, dramatic dialogue, humorous reading, narrative reading, lyric poetry, radio, news commentary and extemporaneous speech.

Students from Holy Name taking part include, Judy Gasperich, Pauline Germain, Pat Durkin, Lynn Jarvey, Glenn Paeske, Dan Curran, Kathy Engman, Betsy Sterns, Donna Savard and Mary Perninski.

Death Claims Walter Wallin

Walter L. Wallin, 43, of the Old State Road, Escanaba died at 5:50 a. m. Tuesday at St. Francis Hospital where he had been a patient for the past five days. He had been in ill health for three weeks.

Born March 26, 1923, he had lived in Escanaba most of his life. He had lived in Milwaukee for 10 years, returning to Escanaba two years ago.

He was a member of St. Anne's Church and had been employed at the Allis Chalmers Co. in Milwaukee until two years ago when he retired because of ill health.

He is survived by his widow, the former Patricia Cool, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wallin; five sisters, Miss Diane Wallin, Milwaukee, Mrs. George (Elsie) Jorke of Chicago, Mrs. Les (Bernice) Mattonen, Ill., Mrs. Vikko (Joyce) Latvala of Trenary and Mrs. Roger (Donna Lee) Beauchamp of Soo Hill; five brothers, Leonard Wallin of Milwauke, Clarence of Chicago and Harold, Donald and David of Escanaba.

Friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home Wednesday from 3 to 9:30 p. m. and parish prayers will be recited at 8 p. m., Wednesday. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 9 a. m. at St. Anne's Church with the Rev. Stephen Mayrand officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

Crash Kills Two

SOUTHGATE (AP) — A head-on crash in this Detroit suburb took the lives of Mrs. Carolyn Knight, 23, of Southgate, and her son, Earl, 4, Monday.

Queen Pageant Draws 11 Girls

Eleven girls have entered this year's Delta County Queen Pageant scheduled Saturday, April 16, at the Escanaba Area High School auditorium.

Bill DeHann, general chairman for the sponsoring Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce, said rehearsals for the competition are already underway.

Master of Ceremonies for the program will be Al Holtein of radio station WDBC. The seven judges include Dr. Edgar Harden, Northern Michigan University president; Raymond Clevenger, 11th district congressman, and Fran Broulette, Dickinson County prosecuting attorney.

Winner of the Miss Delta County title will advance to Miss Michigan competition later this year.

Entries are:

Virginia Fuller, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gouin, Ensign; Susan Garrard, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Garrard, 1106 7th Ave., S.; Linda Good, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Good, 2551 Lake Shore Dr.; Iva Sue Grabowski, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grabowski, 1420 18th Ave., S.; Patricia M. Klimetz, 18, daughter of Mrs. Lorraine Klimetz, 327 N. 19th St.; Cherie Maskart, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Maskart, 559 N. 9th St., Gladstone.

Also entered are Sandra L. Michaeau, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Micheau, Rapid River; Karen Olson, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olson, Ensign; Valerie Oslund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oslund, Rte. 1, Gladstone; Margaret Soderberg, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Soderberg, Rapid River, and Kathy Jo Sullivan, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Sullivan, Rte. 1, Gladstone.

Tickets for the pageant are on sale at Gust Asp's, Ernie's Party Store and Anderson & Bloom in Escanaba and at Buchman's in Rapid River, Dehlin's Drug Store in Gladstone, and Adam's Grocery and Anderson's Gamble Store in Bark River.

Mail Crash Kills Three Of Crew

PLEIKU, Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force C130 carrying 4,200 pounds of mail crashed today as it approached the Pleiku airfield, killing three of the five crew members and injuring the other two.

Officials said most of the cargo was destroyed. The plane was en route to Pleiku from Saigon.

Students Named Concert Soloists

Susan Garrard

Sheila Piche

Susan Garrard and Sheila Piche, talented Escanaba Area High Schol seniors, will share contralto selections in the oratorio "The Messiah' by George F. Handel in concert Sunday, director Conrad Beck announced today.

The combined Escanaba Area High School and community chorus will present "The Messiah" at 3 p. m. in the Area High School auditorium. The Escanaba Symphonette will accompany the choir.

Miss Garrard, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Garrard, 1106 7th Ave. S., received a Division I rating for her vocal solo at the Upper Peninsula high school Solo & Ensemble Festival at Marquette this year. She was also a member of the string quartet which was honored with a place on the evening's Honor's Concert.

A member of the high school Chorale, Madrigal Group and orchestra, Miss Garrard also played Anna Leonowens, leading lady in this year's production of "The King and I," and understudied in the role of Nellie Forbush, lead in "South Pacific."

Miss Piche, daughter of Mrs. Noel Piche, 526 S. 12th St., was voted by ajudicators at last year's U. P. Solo and Ensemble Festival as one of the outstanding female vocalists in the Peninsula and also received a Division I rating this year. She played the leading role of Nellie Forbush in "South Pacific" and was student assistant director and a member of the chorus of wives for "The King asd I."

She also has been a soloist with the High School Concert Choir and is a member of the Chorale, Madrigal Group and orchestra.

No Price Rise Contemplated For Area School Hot Lunch

Cutbacks in federal school hot lunch program subsidies will not force a price increase to children in the Escanaba Area Public schools this year.

"There is no price increase contemplated," said Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett. "It has not even been discussed."

Two Upper Peninsula school districts—Gladstone and Ishpeming—last week announced an increase in prices for students.

Gladstone increased its weekly ticket from $1.25 to $1.30 and its daily price from 30 to 35 cents. Ishpeming increased its weekly price from $1.30 to $1.50 and its daily price from 26 to 30 cents. Both districts blamed losses in federal rebates for the price increase.

High school and junior high students in the Escanaba Area public schools pay 35 cents per lunch. Elementary pupils pay 25 cents.

Meat Reduced

Federal rebate on milk, which originally started at 5 cents per pint, was dropped to 3 cents at the first of this year. Federal surplus food—particularly meat—also has been cut back strongly.

Ted Breitenbach, food service director for the Escanaba Area Schools, said that milk cost the school system over $600 more in February. A year ago, the Area Schools received 16,900 pounds of federal surplus meat (frozen beef, chickens and turkeys), he continued. This year the total Escanaba Area allotment will be only 8,000 pounds, a drop of better than 50 per cent.

Despite the reductions, the Area School system is one of the few in the state to continue to show a profit, Breitenbach said. Balance at the end of February—including inventory and accounts receivable — was $7,586.

For the year, however, the hot lunch accounts have a deficit of $386. Balances at the end of the year are used to buy food and supplies to resume operations in the fall.

Buy In Large Lots

Average daily participation in the hot lunch program at eight schools—the Senior and Junior High Schools, and Lemmer, Ford River, Pine Ridge, Wells and Cornell elementary schools—in February was 1,528 compared with 1,407 a year ago. Total meals served in February was 30,557 compared with last year's 25,331.

Breitenbach said the increased participation, which permits larger volume food purchases, has helped keep the program on an even keel. He reported he generally buys food in 50 or 100 case lots.

Exactly what the federal government plans for the program next year remains in question. A proposal by President Johnson to cut total school lunch and special milk budgets from the current $305 million to $204 million has been strongly opposed by the American School Food Service Association, of which Breitenbach is a member, and by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Senator Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) has predicted that the President's plan to cut federal subsidies of the school milk plan will be defeated in Congress.

Dr. John N. Perryman, executive director of the American School Food Service Association, said:

Blasts Cutbacks

"It would indeed be unfortunate if the children of this country were to be the first to suffer from such an ill-conceived budget recommendation. If the nation can afford to spend vast amounts of money on health, welfare and education programs for the rest of the world, it can certainly afford to continue its marginal support of school food service programs."

Perryman pointed out that unless local school boards make up the difference, the proposed cuts "will mean an increase of five cents or more in the price of a child's lunch and an increase of at least four or five cents in the price of a half pint of milk."

"Our prime consideration," said Dr. Perryman, "should be the well being of the school children."

Increasingly large numbers of students cannot go home for lunch for a good many reasons, he continued. Lunch hours have been shortened, more and more students are transported by bus which makes going home impractical, the volume of heavy traffic makes it desirable to keep children in school and more and more mothers are working and are not home to prepare a hot lunch," he said.

Across the nation, 17 million children each day are fed lunch in the schools. About 540,000 hot meals are served each day in Michigan.

Cost to the Escanaba Area School system per meal served in February was .3398 cents, based on the following: .1475 cents per meal labor; .1299 cents per meal food; .0124 cents per meal repairs, equipment maintenance and replacement; .05 cents per meal for milk.

Breitenbach said the Escanaba Area School system has already received all the federal surplus meat it is going to receive this year and that from now on it will have to buy from the open market. He said the added cost of buying meat would probably be made up by dropping "extra" items from school menus which the schools have been providing occasionally.

Meals for the Junior High and Lemmer schools are prepared in the Area High School kitchen, then taken to the buildings by truck for serving. Meals at Ford River, Cornell, Pine Ridge, Wells and Soo Hill are prepared at the buildings.

SERVING 30,000 meals a month creates special problems for Ted Breitenbach, food service director of the Escanaba Area Public schools. Food is purchased in 50 to 100 case lots for economy purposes and cans are large to cut down on time spent opening and emptying. On the wall behind Breitenbach are cases of instant mashed potatoes. In the foreground is pudding mix. (Daily Press Photo)

Officers Elected At Area PTA Council Meet

The Escanaba Area PTA Council met last evening at the Junior High Cafeteria. A program was presented by Joe LeDuc and the Washington 6th grade tumblers. It was voted to send a $25.000 contribution to the State PTA Office from the Silver Collection taken at the Founders Day Meeting. The attendance award at the Founders Day meeting was won by Pine Ridge, Soo Hill, and Ford River.

Cookbooks are being sold as a money raising project for the Council and anyone wishing to purchase one may call a member of the Council or a PTA unit.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. William Savard, Webster and Jefferson; Vice President, Mrs. John Whitney, Soo Hill; First Vice President, Mrs. Vincent Lewis, Washington; Secretary, Mrs. John McMahon; Ford River and Treasurer Mrs. Ralph Anderson of Webster. These officers will be installed at the May 23 meeting at the Ford River School.

Legislation Chairman, Louis Diedrich gave a report on recent developments. Summer workshops will be held in July at Higgins Lake for local unit leaders. Code of Responsibility for Parents and Youth was accepted and will be made available to everyone in the near future.

Central WSCS Meets Thursday

Because of the crowded schedule of Holy Week the next meeting of Central Methodist Church W. S. C. S. has been brought forward from the usual first Thursday of the month, April 7 to Thursday evening March 31, beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the church parlors.

The program feature will be the showing of colored slides taken by Mr. and Mrs. John Holand on their trips to various sections of the United States.

Lunch will be served after the program by the hostess committee, composed of the Mesdames, Ed Weber, Robert Pearson, Kenneth McMartin and Alma Linden. Families are especially welcome as well at W. S. C. S. members and others who may be interested.

Mrs. V. Johnson Honored At Farewell Party

ROCK — About 200 guests attended a farewell gathering in honor of Mrs. Virginia Johnson Saturday, March 26 at the Rock Bible Chapel. A buffet style supper was served by her friends.

A special program by the Forsyth Gospel Chapel was presented. Participating were: Don and Cathy Yeadon, Carol and Cathy Yeadon, Eleanore Head, Arlene Hill, M. Rose, Cathy Yeadon, Merideth Rose.

Ken Hill and Cam MacArthur spoke words of appreciation and farewell to Mrs. Johnson. Mr. Hill read a letter from John Small, who is in Iron Mountain Veterans Hospital and was unable to attend.

Mrs. Johnson has sold her home to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Larson. She will be leaving Rock April 5 for Charlotte, N.C. to be near her relatives. She will reside at 4557 Woodlark Lane, Charlotte, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married in Sounth Carolina on July 14, 1932 at which time they came to live in Rock. Soon after she became interested in community activities, among them the American Sunday School Union, of which she became superintendent. When John Small began gospel work in Rock, she assisted him and served as Sunday School teacher at the Little Lake and Rock Chapels.

She has been a substitute teacher at the Rock schools over a period of 20 years. She has been active in PTA and Home Extension Club and was a charter member of the Ladies Aid.

She lives in the oldest home in Rock, which had been completely remodeled by her late husband, Herman. He died on Dec. 1, 1964.

Guests attended from Trenary, Marquette, Gwinn, Little Lake, Carlsend, Gladstone, Skandia, Perkins, Escanaba and the surrounding area.

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY

Ore Income Declines But

C&NW Does Best Yet

The Chicago & North Western Railway, reporting general gains in traffic and profits and substantial increase in income from its diversification, notes in its annual report just published that its income from hauling iron ore declined.

The big railroad system had net income in 1965 of $16 million compared with $8.1 million in 1964, but its 1965 income of $8.6 million from the iron ore haul was a decrease of $846,000 from the previous year, when iron ore revenues were the highest since 1957. (The road's chemical companies contributed $5 million of its net income.)

The ore decrease in 1965 resulted from the closing of mines — they're all closed now — on the Gogebic Range, one of the three ore producing ranges served by the railroad in Northern Michigan.

The adverse effect of the Gogebic closing was offset to a considerable degree by increases in the all-rail ore haul to Granite City, Ill., and in participation in unit train movements of ore to Pennsylvania mills.

The North Western also increased its handling of pelletized iron from the Menominee and Marquette ranges, where pelletizing plants are causing a transition in the movement of iron ore from its natural state to ore that is processed into pellets in which the waste content has been reduced.

C&NW Board Chairman Ben Heineman reported that freight revenues were the highest in the company's more than a century of history for the third year in succession and for the fourth year in the last five, excepting only the strike year of 1962. Net income was the highest since the war year of 1945.

Railroad operations as a whole generated the highest net income since 1945 and capital investment in railroad property was the largest in the company's history and will be significantly increased in 1966. For the first time in many years the road will seek new long-term financing in addition to the direct financing of equipment.

The carrier continued to pursue its railroad merger objectives with the Great Western, Milwaukee Road and Rock Island.

Piggyback traffic increased and so did new automobile carrying, and movement of paper and pulpwood. The road moved more coal and coke than in 1964 and had highest revenues from this traffic since 1952. The revenue from coal was incerased by heavier movement of unit trains to electric power plants.

Ruth M. Thomas Dies On Monday

Miss Ruth Marie Thomas, 51, of Brampton died Monday at 11:30 p. m. in St. Francis Hospital, where she had been a patient for three months.

She was born Oct. 5, 1914 in Ishpeming and was a professional librarian who had been last employed by the Menominee County Library at Stephenson for the past two and a half years.

Before that she had been research librarian at Escanaba's Carnegie Library and had taught in Gladstone and served as librarian there. She was graduated from Northern Michigan University in 1939 and received a degree in library science from the University of Michigan in 1951.

She had been ill for several years.

She was a member of the Evangelical Covenant Church of Gladstone.

The body is at the Skradski Funeral Home, Gladstone, and funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning.

She is survived by two nieces and one nephew, James Anderson of Detroit.

Sub Thresher Part Turns Up On Irish Coast

KILKEE, Ireland (AP) —Police in this little seaside village on the west coast of Ireland today recovered a three-foot long cylindrical object they said was marked: "U.S. Thresher. . . radioactive."

It is believed to be part of the American nuclear submarine Thresher, lost three years ago in the Atlantic with all its 129-man crew.

The U.S. Embassy in Dublin and Irish military authorities were notified of the find. It was placed in a locked police store to await the arrival of the experts from Dublin.

CCI Does Very Well, But

Worries About Inflation

President H. Stuart Harrison of Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. states in the company's report on 1965 operations that its sales and operating revenues increased 5 per cent over 1964 but create concern about the big iron ore industry's stability in the future.

The year's strong economy produced record steel production which was reflected in great demand for iron ore, particularly pellets, and CCI had them after nearly $75 million of capital expenditure in production facilities in the past five years.

Operating revenues was $93.8 million and net earnings were $15.1 million compared with $12.4 million in 1964.

"Our sales of pellets in 1965 were limited only by our capacity to produce them," said Harrison "and we are taking steps to expand this as rapidly as possible. In June of 1965 we began production at the (U.P.) Pioneer Pellet Plant which is the first unit in the industry to pelletize underground natural ores and we expect to increase production in 1966, the first full year of operation for this facility.

Pay Increased

"Partners of Empire Iron Mining Co. approved an expansion to 1.8 million tons and properties we manage should approach 7 million tons capacity in 1966.

"In September we signed a three-year contract with the United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO providing for wage and fringe benefit increases averaging about 3.9 per cent annually. This exceeded the President's suggested guideline increases of 3.2 per cent by a substantial margin. The new contract causes us serious concern because the soundness of our industry and our economy is based upon productivity gains offsetting wage increases so that price stability can be maintained.

"This is particularly true in our industry where we are operating in a worldwide market and where there are no tariffs or quotas on the imports into this country. It means we are continually competing with foreign producers who have much lower labor costs both in the mines and on the ships which carry the ores to our shores. In order to be competitive in iron ore markets today we must spend considerable amounts of money. Large outlays are also necessary to get our diversification program going.

Signs Of Strain

"Our general economy is beginning to show distinct signs of strain. We are in the midst of an economic boom on top of which has been thrust the growing demands of our military committments in Viet Nam. Wholesale and retail prices are on the rise after many years of general stability.

"Unemployment rates are near historic low levels and plant capacity is growing scarce. The result is a heated-up economy, which, barring restraint, can lead to deflation unless both wisdom and courage are shown by our federal government.

"We have decided to maintain our prices at the same level as last year in spite of labor increases, which will probably mean that our earnings will be slightly below 1965 levels. Indications are, however, that 1966 will be the second best year in the company's history."

Marx Has Influenced World

Has Capital Disproved Him?

By JEAN WORTH

The University of Michigan's "Weekend With the Professors" here at the House of Ludington, for Upper Peninsula persons provided an explanation of things about communism that puzzle many Americans.

Why does it appeal to so many millions and why do a third of the people in the world embrace it?

Why do Russia and Red China quarrel if they're both communistic?

Why would Khrushchev preclaim peaceful co-existence when the fruits of capitalism in America and elsewhere might make communist peoples discontented?

Dr. Carl Cohen, U-M associate professor of philosophy, said "On the whole we oppose the Marxian philosophy and on the whole we are right, but to oppose it successfully we have got to understand it. We cannot by slogans like 'Godless' and "Atheistic' attack its plausible view, it has got to be met on an intellectual plane. If we don't do this we fail to refute it and we look like asses because it is so widespread and successful.

Dr. Carl Cohen

Economic Base

"Many remarks in the public prints notwithstanding, Marx was a good man deeply concerned in an intellectual way with the well-being of human beings. He had a keen eye for the problem of industrial society in Western Europe and we have learned much from him.

"He was born in the Rhineland in 1818 and died in London in 1883 and his great work was 'Das Kapital' (Capital). He wrote that history makes (economic) sense.'

Karl Marx embraced a philosophy of "dialectical materialism" which taught a theory of reality resulting from continuous clash of opposition forces and refinement and based on a material (economic) foundation. This socialism is expected to provide a classless society and this philosophy became the official philosophy of the communists.

All Is Material

"Marx believed that the fundamental foundation in life was material, and that whoever had control of the means of production and distribution had control of society. This was the substructure. Law, theology, custom, language, morals were all in the superstructure, controlled by substructure of the economic base, which set the way for the superstructure to be managed.

"Marxian history is a long record of contest for power over production and distribution; a history of class struggle, of owners against workers. Das Kapital was against the capitalists not because they were bad guys, but because it believed capitalism had in it the seeds of its own destruction; that every society gets productive forces going which can't be controlled. The fetters have to be broken and a new class created.

"Marx talked about the 'boom-and-bust' cycle and said the higher the economy went the farther it would fall. We recovered from the 1930s and hope we learned enough about economic machinery to control it. Marx said that there were panics because of overproduction, that there was enough to eat, but that it wasn't going to the right people. Marx seemed so right in the 1930s to many people.

Marx Disproved?

"With World War II capitalism revived and we've had a rather satisfactory economy and economic health. Has Marx been disproved? It is moot. We've learned an awful lot about control of the economy. Are we so healthy we've got it licked? We don't know. Marx says we're only coming to a bigger cropper.

"Marx thinks that when the inadequacy of the machinery reaches a point it will be overthrown — productive property will no longer rest on one class, but be in the hands of all, with no need for a clash between classes. On to utopia and classlessness.

"Contempoary Marxists in the Soviet Union and socialist countries believe these principles. There are improvisions on this theme, but they believe the downfall of capitalism is inevitable, so they say time is on their side; that they are riding the wave of the future.

Let's Co-Exist

"When Khrushchev said 'We will bury you,' he didn't mean physical, but that their system will bury ours. He believes in a dialectical chain of events.

"When Marxians say 'Let us co-exist for a while, they think peace is in their interest. We do too. So I think we should take their desire for peace more seriously than we do because we believe our system is superior and does things better.

"The overthrow of capitalist society need not necessarily be a bloody one. Marx is not clear on this. Marx and Engels say inconsistent things. (Russia takes the more peaceful view; Red China the more warlike.)

Up To America

"We have got to make our system work. Marxists are very good critics and they call the world's attention to our failures and we've got to deal with the sores in our own economy. Unemployment has never been solved. To have millions out of work is not satisfactory.

"Marx pointed to the misery of the condition of the factory worker. It is not true now, but there is a lot of inhumanity in the industrial economy. Tour the Ford Rouge plant and you worry about the guys on the assembly line. The pay is pretty good, but it is a pretty miserable life.

"Marx placed great emphasis on the haves and the have nots, and the most prominent feature of life on earth in the 1960s is the sharp differentiation between the haves and have nots, the poor and the rich. As long as it remains a description of human life on earth Marx is going to be very attractive. Not to us, perhaps, but to the new masses of unemployed throughout the world. Marx was incorrect in many respects, but he had great insight in describing industrial economies.

Imperialism Delay

"Lenin said Marx was essentially correct but that it was not England or America (oppressing the workers) but the world; that capitalism uses imperialism to stave off its collapse and to hang on a little longer. He said imperialism is the last stage before collapse of capitalists. Imperialism needn't be political, it can be just economic, and in some measure we have done this.

"The labor unions, minimum wage laws and other things made Marx wrong in our welfare state. There are more ways to fix it (the problem of serfdom in an industrial society) than Marx thought of.

"The Marxian ideal has been realized nowhere because he thought that states would be oppressive and that with such abundance there would be no need and that there would be a new kind of humanity, with people contributing for a new set of motivations, and this has been realized nowhere. The Marxian ideal cannot be reached without an international society.

"We are sensitive to political economy because of Marx. He said they were the only factors. That is absurd. There is not one cause of history, but who ignores economic concerns is in for some surprises.

China And Russia

"China and Russia have a different interpretation of Marx, plus a power politics struggle.

"Democracy is not common in the world. We think everyone would want it and most don't and can't. We developed our democracy after the Constitution and not before and we didn't have a very satisfactory democracy before slavery was abolished in 1864. We have improved a great deal in the last 100 years, but we're still far from perfect.

"Probably no satisfactory solution can be found by reading in books. Marx didn't. It behooves his followers to study the facts as Marx did instead of quoting Marx ad nauseum.

"We are automatically influenced by economic-social philosophers and they use some Marxian criticism. We don't need Marx. We have some pretty good social critics of our own."

Cooperative Effort On Federal Projects Urged For Peninsula

A cooperative effort by local and intermediate school districts under a new federal aid assistance program was urged Monday to secure full benefit of federal aid to education programs for Upper Peninsula children.

George Stewart, Lansing, state education consultant, said there is no reason local school districts cannot join together to prepare proposals.

"Cooperative programs are a perfectly legitimate way to do business," he said.

Stewart, who has been contact man in the Dept. of Public Instruction for Upper Peninsula school districts working on proposals under Title I of the Elementary-Secondary Education Act, met with seven intermediate school district superintendents to set up a "sales campaign" for local schools.

Meetings Scheduled

Eight meetings were scheduled with local school boards, superintendents, Community Action Agency representatives and members of UPCAP's Human Resources Committee next month throughout the Upper Peninsula. Purpose of the meetings will be to "sell" local school districts on the merits of unified planning under a federal aid expert in the Intermediate School office.

The expert would be hired under a "pilot project" for the Upper Peninsula designed to make sure all schools who want to can qualify for federal aid. Salary and expenses for the "experts" would be paid from federal funds allocated to local school districts for administrative expenses.

Stewart said the aim of the program is to help local districts take full advantage of federal programs. He said several hundred thousand dollars in Title I funds from the Elementary - Secondary Education Act probably will be lost this year in the U. P. because of failure to apply.

"There is no place for the money to go but back to the federal government when we fail to get our applications in on time," he said. "This waste is what we are trying to prevent."

Unanimously Backed

Intermediate school district superintendents unanimously backed the proposal.

"We need staff consultants who work in this field only," said G. Vance Hiney, Marquette-Alger superintendent.

"There should be someone in the Intermediate office who can do this kind of work," added Hagle Quarnstrom, Delta-Schoolcraft superintendent.

Norman R. Wilson, Luce-Mackinac-Chippewa, said that the intermediate district is always getting requests for this type of service, so why not provide it.

"In our area they are all asking who can help? How do you prepare an application?" Hiney said.

Stewart pointed out that while many Upper Peninsula school districts have filed Title I proposals and some already have programs approved and working, many smaller districts have been unable to get off the ground. He said many didn't know what to do with an allocation of only several thousand dollars, but that if they combined with other districts in their area they could cooperate in a stronger program.

More Money?

He pointed out that the prospects are that even more money will be available next year if the federal government modifies its requirements.

Stewart, who will spend much of the next two months in the Upper Peninsula, said another man will be assigned to work with him in an effort to beat the June 30 deadline for this year's applications.

Meetings with local school officials were scheduled at Hancock, April 18; at Wakefield, April 19; at Iron Mountain, April 20; at Stephenson, April 21; at Rudyard, April 25; at Newberry, April 26; at Rapid River, April 27, and at Marquette, April 28.

reception and the way her conversations were put on a friendly and understanding footing," said B.G. Verghese, Indian information adviser.

White House sources said Mrs. Gandhi had been consulted and is agreeable to the basic outlines of the educational foundation, to be patterned after the Rockefeller and Ford foundations. Details of its implementation are to be worked out later.

Meet Old Problems

Johnson said the foundation would be designed "to promote progress in all fields of learning...to develop new teaching techniques in farm and factory...to stimulate new ways to meet age-old problems."

He expressed hope it would be "a lasting endowment for the benefit of inquiring young minds in the Indian nation."

Subject to congressional approval, the foundation would be financed by use of some of the more than $575 million in Indian currency now held by the U.S. government.

New York Wednesday

This currency came from payments for surplus American commodities, such as wheat and rice, purchased by India. U.S. officials have been considering the idea for more than a year.

The President and Mrs. Gandhi met alone for more than an hour Monday and conferred again before the elaborate dinner for 140 guests Monday night.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk attended an Indian Embassy reception for the prime minister earlier Monday night. President and Mrs. Johnson plan to attend a small reception given by Mrs. Gandhi at the Indian Embassy tonight.

Mrs. Gandhi leaves for New York Wednesday.

Ore Coming In; First Boat Due Here Thursday

The Chicago & North Western's first ore train of the season rumbled into Escanaba last night and the ore carrier Charles C. West is scheduled to dock Thursday morning for the first cargo.

"We will do as much or probably a little bit more than last year at Escanaba," said L. A. McMillan, C&NW dock agent.

The 1965 ore shipping season at Escanaba was about average —a total of 6,064,785 tons loaded out before winter clamped a hand of ice over the harbors and channels.

This has been an unusually mild winter, however, and vessels are expected to come and go from here on this spring without assistance from the Coast Guard icebreakers. The first boat to Escanaba was the tanker Amaco Wisconsin with a cargo of fuel for the Standard Oil Co. marine terminal on Saturday.

Three Boats Due

A trainload of pellet ore from the Marquette range reached Escanaba last night and the first train from the Groveland mine is due here on Wednesday, said McMillan.

Loading at the Menominee range will begin on Wednesday and ore will be flowing to Escanaba from Iron River and Crystal Falls before the end of the week.

The carrier Charles C. West of the Reiss Steamship Co. is due to arrive at Escanaba for a cargo of ore on Thursday morning, March 31. She is coming here from Detroit.

Last year the first ore boat was April 6 and in 1964 it was April 3.

Two Inland Steel vessels, the Sykes and the L. E. Block, are scheduled to arrive at Escanaba to load ore at the North Western dock on Friday. They will come here from Indiana Harbor.

Dock Repaired

The quantity of pellet ore that will be moved by the North Western this year will probably exceed that in 1965. The amount of regular ore being produced in the Upper Peninsula's mines is declining—but the volume of pelletized ore is growing by leaps and bounds as beneficiation of low-grade ores is developed.

The North Western Railway is completing major repairs to its dock at Escanaba, spending a total of $370,000 to maintain and improve the huge structure. It is 1,920 feet long, 70 feet high, and has 320 pockets.

One hundred and thirty-five men are hastening the completion of repairs in advance of the arrival of the first boat. The foundation of the dock was completely renovated.

Now beginning its 102nd year of uninterrupted ore shipping at Escanaba, the North Western is looking to a continuing future of ore traffic—perhaps for another century or more as vast low-grade ore deposits are tapped for beneficiation.

Clay Fights Chuvalo In Toronto Tonight

TORONTO (AP) — Cassius Clay, in what could be his last fight for at least two years, risks his share of the world heavyweight title tonight against Canada's George Chuvalo in a 15-rounder that figures to be as one-sided as a fox hunt.

The undefeated, 24-year-old flash from Louisville, Ky., rates as the 7-1 favorite over the plodding, 28-year-old, 11-times-beaten Canadian champion. There has been very little betting on the fight, according to bookmakers here.

Although Toronto is Chuvalo's hometown, the Ontario Athletic Commission is not recognizing the bout as a title contest. The commission is a member of the World Boxing Association which recognizes Ernie Terrell of Chicago as its champion.

But if the bull-necked Chuvalo, who never has been knocked off his feet, should get lucky and win, there's no doubt that he will be considered the champion everywhere but in WBA territory.

Kid With Sled

Fight time is 10:30 p.m., EST.

Chuvalo, the father of four boys, finished training on an optimistic and cheerful note.

The Canadian is as happy as a kid with a new sled who has just been told school has been closed because of a heavy snowfall. Chuvalo never thought he would get the title shot and his biggest purse ever, one that could range from $50,000 to more than $100,000 depending on the gross gate at the Maple Leaf Gardens and the closed-circuit television receipts in the United States and Canada.

Chuvalo, fresh from defeats by Terrell here in November and by Eduardo Corletti, an Argentine unknown in London last Jan. 25, fell into the Clay fight by luck. Terrell withdrew from the title showdown with Clay because his guarantee was slashed.

Clay Is Anxious

Clay, anxious to fight before he makes a final appeal from the draft soon, quickly accepted Chuvalo as a substitute opponent. The Canadian, ranked 10th by the WBA and ninth by Ring Magazine, said yes as quickly as a homely spinster to a marriage propcsal.

"I'm not scared of him," said Chuvalo. "He can be taken. Nobody has ever roughed Clay or banged him around to any degree at all. I know this — if I can hit him, I can hurt him. If he carries the fight to me, I'll knock him out."

"If there's going to be any dirty fighting, he's going to be in real trouble," said Clay. "If I get mad, the fight will be over real quick. I hope to knock him out anyway. Nobody's ever had him on the floor so if I can knock him out I feel I will have accomplished something."

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer-manager, predicted Clay would knock out the sturdy, game challenger in about eight rounds.

"Chuvalo is a tough guy who would fight a lion, but Cassius is a great boxer and puncher," said Dundee.

Not Strong Puncher

Chuvalo is a plodder who moves straight in on an opponent, aiming to wear him down with body punches. Although he has 27 knockouts to his credit in posting a 34-11-2 won-lost-draw record, he is not rated a strong puncher.

"Let's face it," said Irv Ungergman, Chuvalo's manager, "George has to knock him out to win. He can do it."

Clay, a pro 5½ years, has a 22-0 record, including 18 knockouts.

"I don't think he's that good a puncher," said Chuvalo.

Promoters here estimate a crowd of about 10,000 and a gross gate of between $150,000 and $200,000 at prices ranging from $7 to $100. Main Bout, Inc., which owns the ancillary rights, estimates about $300,000 will go into the pot in which the fighters share. That could mean a $250,000 gross to Clay and $100,000 to Chuvalo.

Scoring will be by the five-point must system with the winner getting five points a round and the loser four or less.

Veteran Coach, Bill Kelly, Will Speak At Clinic

Bill Kelly

Kenneth A. (Bill) Kelly, high school and college football coach for 36 years, will be a speaker at the third annual Escanaba Coaches Clinic at the Terrace April 1-2.

Other speakers at the two day clinic include Rolie Dotsch and Mike Mileski of Northern, Roy Kramer of Central Michigan and Jim Cook, training specialist from Cramer Chemical Co. of Gardner, Kansas.

Kelly, 60, has been head football coach at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant since 1951 and tennis coach at the college since 1953. He also coached the Chippewas in basketball for two years in 1955-56.

Prior to taking over the football reins at Central, Kelly coached for 21 years in high schools at Cass City, Mt. Pleasant and Saginaw Arthur Hill. His prep teams won 25 district and regional champinoships in basketball, seven Saginaw Valley Conference basketball championships and one state basketball crown.

Kelly's football coaching record at Central is 86 victories, 53 defeats and 2 ties. His overall football career coaching record is 215 victories, 100 defeats and 10 deadlocks.

Kelly was an outstanding athlete in high school and college, earning nine varsity letters at Mt. Pleasant High School and a record 13 at Central Michigan University where he competed in football, basketball, tennis and baseball.

Kelly was honored as Michigan Small College Coach of the Year in 1959.

Co-directors Jerry Cvengros and Bob Dufour today announced an advance registration of 50 coaches from Michigan and Wisconsin high schools and anticipated a total attendance of near 100.

Hidden-Ball Trick Fails To Work On Alert Giants

By The Associated Press

Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale picked the wrong day to begin their screen careers. They were upstaged by a couple of left-handed method actors and a hidden-ball trickster.

While Koufax and Drysdale, Los Angeles' heralded holdout twins, checked into a Hollywood film studio Monday to prepare for their upcoming movie roles, Pittsburgh southpaws Bob Veale and Luke Walker collaborated for a 5-0 no-hit victory over the stage-struck Dodgers at Fort Myers, Fla.

And, at Phoenix, Ariz., the Chicago Cubs almost fooled the San Francisco Giants with a zany variation of the old hidden-ball trick, outfielder George Altman providing the sleight-of-hand.

Veale, the Pirates' bespectacled, 6-foot-6 fireballer, set down the Dodgers for seven innings, and Walker, a 22-year-old rookie, completed the no-hitter against the six batters he faced.

The Dodgers, who have dropped 11 of 16 spring games and have been shut out in three, managed only two base-runners. Tommy Davis was safe on an error in the fifth inning and Veale walked Jeff Torborg in the sixth. Willie Stargell made a lunging catch of Maury Wills' liner in the first inning, but the Dodgers hit only three other balls out of the infield.

Gene Alley led the Pittsburgh attack with four hits, and Roberto Clemente had three.

Veale, 17-12 last season — and No. 3 strikeout artist in the majors with 276 — pitched a one-hitter against Philadelphia Sept. 19. Walker was 12-7 with 197 strikeouts, for Asheville of the Southern League.

The Cubs played now-you-see-it now-you don't with the Giants in the seventh inning of a game won by San Francisco 6-3.

Rookie Byron Browne crashed against the center-field fence chasing Jim Hart's long drive, then turned and threw to the infield before collapsing. Shortstop Don Kessinger took the throw and relayed to third baseman Ron Santo, cutting down the sliding Hart.

Giants' Manager Herman Franks, however, saw Altman, who had rushed to Browne's aid, slip something into his back pocket. "He threw the wrong ball," Willie Mays shouted as Franks charged toward center field and the fans gaped.

While Franks and the umpires conducted a search, Altman was spotted handing something to second baseman Glenn Beckert, who passed it to Cubs trainer Joe Proski — and was caught in the act.

The ball Proski surrendered was spotless; the ball thrown by Browne was grass-stained green from heavy use. Browne had picked up a ball left on the field after batting practice.

Hart was awarded a ground-rule double, leaving Franks one-up on his old boss, Leo Durocher, the Cubs' pilot.

The New York Yankees snapped the Chicago White Sox' nine-game winning streak 4-1 as Roger Maris hit his first spring homer and Clete Boyer clubbed his fourth. St. Louis blanked the New York Mets 3-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Ray Washburn and Tracy Stallard.

Cincinnati topped Atlanta 5-3 on Tommy Helms' two-run single in the eighth. Jim Maloney yielded one run in three innings — his first appearance for the Reds. Philadelphia trimmed Baltimore 5-3 on the tight pitching of Ray Culp and Darold Knowles.

California blasted Cleveland 11-1, Ed Kirkpatrick pacing a 14-hit assault with a single, double and homer. Bob Chance drove in two runs with a single and sacrifice fly as Washington edged Minnesota 3-2, and Eddie Kasko's inside-the-park grand-slam homer led Houston past its Oklahoma City farm club 6-1.

Cash Won't Let Jeers Get Him Down This Year

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Norm Cash doesn't think Detroit fans are ever going to let him forget that he once hit .361.

But he's not going to let their jeers bother him any more.

Cash, in the midst of one of his best springs for the Tigers, says he feels the fans expect him to hit like he did his first two years with the team.

He batted .286 in 1960, his first full year in the majors, and won the American League batting title with the .361 mark in 1961.

"I hit 39 home runs and batted in 89 runs the next year but my average was only .243," Cash pointed out. "The fans just seemed to forget the positive side and just looked at my average. It's been that way ever since."

Cash has hit 79 homers the last three years and boasts a .280 lifetime batting average.

"The boos bothered me for a long while," Cash admitted. "But they don't any more. As long as I'm doing the best I can and the Tigers keep paying me like they are, I'll be happy."

Reflecting on the 1961 season, in which he also hit 41 round-trippers and batted in a career-high 132 runs, Cash said:

"It seemed everytime I hit the ball it was in the hole or just out of someone's reach for a hit. I just couldn't do anything wrong. But the next year, the ball started to find its way into players' mitts and the hits just weren't falling in."

Tigers batting coach Pat Mullin says the secret of Cash's success this spring has been that he remembers where he left off last season. Cash hit .304 with 23 homers and 58 RBIs in the 78 games after the All-Star break.

"I think Norm had a feeling he had to pull the ball to get his hits, and that hurt him," Mullin said. "Now, he's swinging away and letting the hits fall where they may."

Cash, once considered a butcher with the glove, ranks with many as the best-fielding first baseman in the league.

But one of the things that irritate him most is the fact that he has never been voted a Gold Glove, awarded annually to the best fielders in the league.

The award is presented after balloting by the players and not on fielding records.

Cash topped all AL first-sackers with a .997 fielding average two years ago, but the players voted the Gold Glove to Vic Power.

Tiger players, it should be noted, were not allowed to vote for any of their teammates.

Weekend results:

Green Bay 6-3, Rochester 3-2 (second game overtime); Waterloo 7-6, Marquette 4-5 (second game two overtimes); Fox Valley Tuesday Night's Game - Green Bay at Marquette.

GREEN BAY — The Green Bay Bobcats, making a torrid stretch run, invade Marquette tonight in a last ditch bid for a United States Hockey League tournament berth.

The Bobcats, who have won six of their last games, must defeat the host Iron Rangers in order to qualify for the USHL competition, to be held in Marquette this weekend.

There is, however, one other "if." They will qualify if they score four or more goals, since a victory lift them into a tie with Rochester in total points with 26 and the total goals scored during the season by each team then would become the determining factor.

The Bobcats thus far have scored 133 goals in 29 games, including nine in sweeping last weekend's "must" series with Rochester, 6-3 and 3-2 in an overtime match, while the Mustangs have collected 136. Rochester cannot improve its total, having finished its season in Sunday's loss.

Should the Bobcats qualify, they will enter the tournament along with the tree top finishers in the USHL race, which has been completed except for tonight's game, Waterloo's champion Black Hawks, the second place St. Paul Steers and the host Marquette Iron Rangers will round out the field.

The four principals will be playing for a split of a $2,000 prize fund, plus expenses. The money will be divided on a 40-30-20-10 basis.

Cager Played With Broken Bone In Arm

GRAMBLING, La. (AP) — Little All-America basketball player Johnny Comeaux of Grambling College played most of the past season with a broken right arm, it was learned Monday.

Comeaux broke the tibia bone in his right arm in late December but the exact nature of the injury was not discovered until it healed despite numerous X-rays.

The crack was discovered Monday when Comeaux entered a hospital at nearby Ruston for removal of a calcium deposit on his leg.

Spartans Lose Pair Of Games

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Michigan State hit two home runs and got a near-perfect 4 1-3 inning relief pitching job from John Krasnan but lost two ball games Monday.

MSU bowed to Wake Forest, 7-3, despite homers by Tom Binkowski and Steve Juday, then fell to Florida State, 5-0. Only 13 batters faced Krasnan in his relief stint in the Florida State game. He walked one man but the runner was erased in a double play.

The defeats gave MSU a 3-5 record for the spring training season. MSU met the same teams today.

Benefit Game Set Wednesday At Bark River

BARK RIVER-HARRIS — A basketball benefit game, sponsored by the Bronco Boosters, will be played at the high school gym Wednesday night. A preliminary will begin at 7:15.

All proceeds will go to help finance a Booster project to purchase glass backboards for the school district's gym.

The feature game will match the Bark River-Harris eighth graders against the ninth graders. The eighth grade team ran up a 7-1 record and fished second in the Little Cedar Junior High Conference. Two Bark River-Harris seventh grade teams will compete in the preliminary.

Coaches and officials are donating their services. Anyone interested in joining the Bronco Booster Club may contact Marvin Ray, Leonard Veeser or Joe Sagataw.

Commission Sets Tentative Prices For East End

Lots in the East End development area probably will be sold at a price ranging from $1,800 to $7,500 for an 80 x 100-foot segment, according to a reort to the City Commission at their regular meeting Monday night.

City Manager H. J. Henrikson told the commission the cost of developing roads and utilities in the area would be about $151,500 if the entire area were subdivided for homes and $142,500 if some portions were set aside for park purposes.

Mayor Frank Stupak pointed out the value of shoreline property and said the committee on east end property development felt that $7,500 for lake frontage was not out of line. These prices, however, are not firm as yet and development will not begin until 20 or 25 lots have been sold.

About 55 lots in the 40-acre tract will be available, the report indicated.

Road Work Approved

Hearing no objection to the blacktopping and curbing of Dakota Ave., from 7th to 8th S. and from Dakota to the alley between Dakota and Michigan Aves., the Commission granted number one priorities to the project. Cost of the project will be $4,428 and residents were told that work would probably be done this summer if blacktopping equipment is available.

The Commission also authorized Henrikson to advertise for bids for 10,000 yards of crushed gravel for road work, 10,000 tons of coal for the power plant and 1,500 feet of 10-inch pipe for water line.

Henrikson reported a request from James Goodyear to purchase a pie-shaped piece of land adjacent to his property at the east end of Minneapolis Ave. Goodyear's previous request for this property was denied because of its location near the storm sewer outlet to the bay. The Commission agreed to place for bids a strip of property 200-feet deep with 50-feet of shoreline property coming to a point on Minneapolis Ave., about eight-feet from the sewer line. Bids will be opened at the next meeting.

Requests Filed

Requests from city employes for consideration at budget time were placed on file.

Eaton, Yale & Towne, Inc., asked the city to remove water lines from property which they recently purchased at the Railway Ave. site and the Commission agreed to do the work as soon as water pipe is available.

Ed Apelgren, representing Operation Bootstrap, appeared before the Commission to ask permission to construct a dike submerging about three acres of marsh land each of the Delta Coal dock site to permit them to raise fingerling northern pike. The group expects to raise about a half-million pike in the area to help bolster northern pike fishing in the bay. The Commission granted temporary easement.

Forensic Fete Well Attended

Gladstone Public Schools held their local Forensic Festival Friday, March 25 in the school gym. Thirty-five students participated in the local festival, which was a reduction from the original 62 students who had signed up, within the last week. An estimated 200 students and parents listened to the various divisions as they were presented throughout the day.

Judges for the local festival were Mrs. James Boman, Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. William Williams, Mr. "Bill" Wood, and Mr. James Boman. The director of the local festival was Mr. James Boman.

Ratings of the students participating were as follows: Those receiving ratings of Superior and their areas of participation were: John Burk, Radio News Commentary; Robert Kelly, Dramatic Monologue; Lori Kaufman, Declamation; Ned Vanders, Don Pfotenhauer, Jean Hoehn, Original Oration; Keith Apelgren, John Bruzas, Diana Charles, Lyric Poetry Reading; Carmen Apelgren, Susan Schram, Dramatic Dialogue Reading; Mark Goodman, Extempore Speaking. Of these twelve students only ten will advance to the District Festival to be held at Holy Name High School, Friday, April 1. The ten were determined by an overall average of the number of Superior ratings granted by the judges, an overall average of their total scores, and consideration of time rules and comments made by the individual judges. The State Forensic rules specifically state that only ten students may advance to the District Festival, not more than three being in any one division. Because of this ruling it was necessary to eliminate from the District Festival the following students: John Burk, because of a time ruling, and Robert Kelly because of overall point ratings. These two students will go to the District as spectators, but not as participants.

Those students receiving ratings of Excellent and their areas are as follows: Christine Stockholm, Kristin Olson, Darla Hardwick, Ann Gerald, Dramatis Monologue; Dennis Bergman, Extempore Speaking; James Murphy, Pat Norton, Radio News Commentary; Mary Jo Beck, Declamation; Nancy Salo, Narrative Reading; Leroux Cowen, Donna Kniskern, Diane Ottensman, Dramatic Dialogue; Peter Albrecht, Richard Anderson, Mike Hess, Humorous Reading.

Those students receiving ratings of Very Good and their areas are as follows: Suzanne Nelson, Dramatic Dialogue; Joanne Nehmer, Narrative Reading; Barbara Marshall, Cheryl Coppock, Declamation; Diane Porath, Mike Albrecht, Radio News Commentary; Martha Borden, Extempore Speaking.

Peggy Lynn Bing received a rating of Average in Radio News Commentary.

C. E. Burch Dies At Home

Carl Elroy Burch, 48, of Ensign, died at his home at 10:15 a. m. Monday of a heart attack.

Mr. Burch was born in Gladstone June 2, 1918 and lived most of his life in Ensign. He was engaged in farming until ill health forced his retirement about six months ago.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Carl Pauline Oja, of Ensign and a nephew, Robert Oja.

Friends may call at the Skradski Funeral Home after 2 p. m. on Wednesday. Funeral services will be held at the Funeral Home Chapel at 2 p. m. Thursday with the Rev. George A. Olson, pastor of Calvary Lutheran Church, Rapid River, officiating. Burial will be in Rapid River cemetery.

A. A. Neiman Guest Speaker

Atty. Arthur A. Neiman, of Escanaba, will be the guest speaker at the special Lenten service to be held at the Evangelical Covenant Church Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Neiman is a member of the Bethany Lutheran Church, Escanaba, and will present "A Lawyer's View of the Trial of Christ." He is a graduate of Western Michigan University, with a Bachelor of Arts degree and of Michigan University Law School. A native of Detroit, Neiman practiced law in that city for 3 years and in Munising for five years before coming to Escanaba in 1962.

The choir, accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Goodman, will sing, "No Greater Love", featuring Mrs. J. R. Olson as soloist.

The public is invited to attend.

South Carolina Coach Resigns

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — There was no immediate speculation about a successor to Marvin Bass as head football coach and athletic director at the University of South Carolina.

Bass, 46, resigned Monday, after announcing he had signed a three-year contract Sunday as head coach and general manager of the new Montreal team in the Continental Football League. The contract reportedly calls for $75,000.

Dr. James E. Morris was appointed acting athletic director Monday. Morris is dean of the university's School of Business Administration and faculty athletic chairman.

Dr. Thomas F. Jones, university president, said the university may hire one or two persons to replace Bass, who had been head football coach since 1961 and athletic director since 1962.

Bass said he had planned to resign from the university before signing the Montreal contract, but that a news break on the pro agreement necessitated his signing immediately.

The Montreal team was in Fort Wayne, Ind., last year. John Newman bought the club and moved it to Montreal.

"I hate to leave Columbia and the state of South Carolina. But this is too good an offer for me to turn down. It is the best offer I've ever had in coaching," said Bass, who reportedly made $15,000 a year at South Carolina.

Bass' South Carolina teams had a 17-29-4 record in five seasons. The Gamecocks were co-champions with Duke of the Atlantic Coast Conference in 1965, the university's first football title in 71 years. The Gamecocks were 5-2 in the ACC and 5-5 over-all.

They Talk More And Faster Too

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YOR K(AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Home is a safer place for the husband than for the wife. Because she spends more time in it, she is twice as likely to have an accident there.

But home seems to be a pretty dangerous place for anybody. In a recent year there were 22 million home accidents, compared to nine million on the job.

Women not only talk more than men — they also talk faster. The average U.S. woman speaks at the rate of 175 syllables a minute, the average man 150. But a Frenchwoman can blur along at 350 syllables a minute.

Save Your Fears

Does an electrical storm frighten you? Save your fears for something more important. Only three out of a million people are struck by lightning each year.

Learning isn't just for the young. More than 25 million Americans now are pursuing some form of voluntary education.

Last year metropolitan area suburbs had a bigger population, 68 million, than central cities with 61 million.

Prosperity note: Experts estimate it now takes from $50,000 to $75,000 to buy the acreage, equipment and livestock to start a successful farm. But the investment seems to pay off. The average farmer's net income has risen 40 per cent in the last five years.

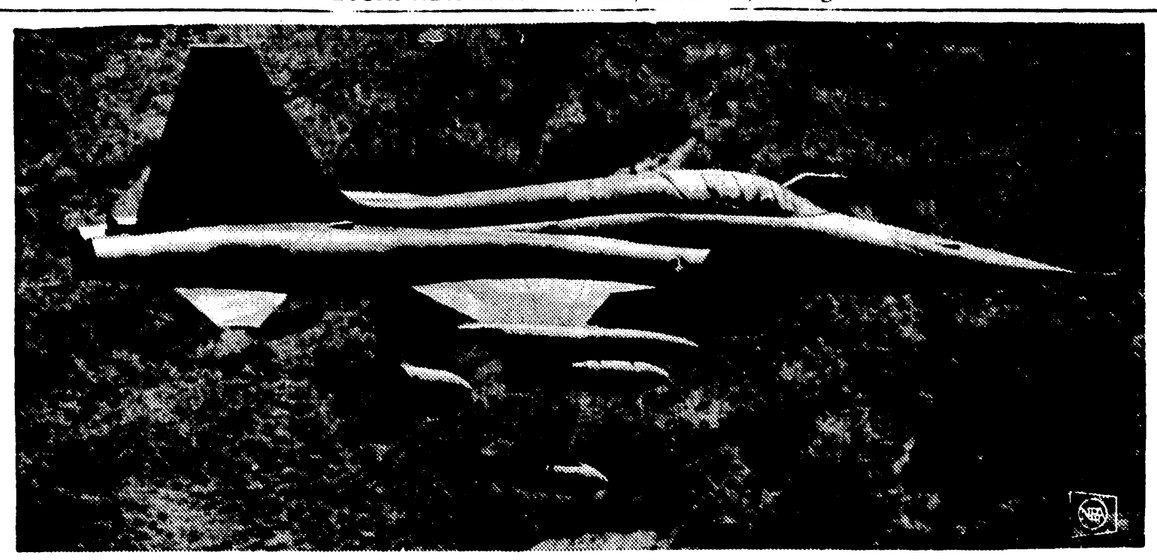
Car Inspections

Only 18 states require annual safety inspection of cars.

Don't get your dander up if someone calls you a psepholo-gist. He just means you are a scientific student of elections.

Modern morality: Some 85 per cent of brides are pregnant in all marriages today in which both partners are high school pupils. About one in every 20 American babies today is born out of wedlock.

The price of hate: Some psychiatrists believe that holding grudges against others can reduce by 50 per cent your potential level of personal happiness. So, if you can't forgive or forget, it's yourself you hurt most.



TIGER STRIKES—Although this F-5 Freedom Fighter's mission is part of an experiment, the bomb load it's delivering over a Viet Cong target in South Viet Nam is the real thing. F-5s, organized in the 4503d Tactical Fighter Squadron, dubbed "Skoshi Tigers," are being tested in combat to determine effectiveness of this small, inexpensive fighter compared with the heavier, more sophisticated plans which have been bearing the brunt in Viet Nam. They have been hitting southern targets since last Nov. 1 and began strikes against Communist North Viet Nam Feb. 28.

Loretta Young Sues NBC For Image Damage

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Because she was shown in what she called outmoded costumes and hairdos, actress Loretta Young has sued the National Broadcasting Co. for $2.5 million.

She charged breach of a 1959 contract for reruns of television films in which she appeared in the introductions.

Miss Young contends NBC agreed not to use the introductions, but did use them outside the United States.

Many Afflicted

DETROIT (AP) — Speech and hearing handicaps afflict more than 300,000 residents of the Detroit Metropolitan area, the United Community Services reported from a survey Monday. The area includes Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

Ronald Reagan Lauds Romney

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney was described Monday as a "fine man and a fine governor" by actor Ronald Reagan.

Reagan, a candidate for Republican nomination for California's governorship, declined to say whether he thought the Republican governor would be the GOP presidential candidate in 1968.

full of fine men who are capable of being president," he told a news conference, adding that, at the moment, former Vice President Richard Nixon was "more accepted than anyone else as the party's leader."

In astronomy, the term aphelion refers to the point in the earth's orbit which is farthest from the sun.

Public Invited To Historical Program Tonight

A program relating to the observance of Delta County Historical Society membership week will be held in the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce building at 8 tonight.

Robert Schmeling, Society president, said that al linterested persons will be welcome.

Harold Bergman of Gladstone will speak on the history of the Rapid River area; the Rev. Karl J. Hammar will report on the progress of the membership drive; and Carl Sawyer will present to the Society a copy of his latest publication on the history of lumbering.

Refreshments will be served after the program.

Custodial Job Classification Is Protested

The Board of Directors of the 15,000-member Michigan State Employees Association has assailed the Michigan Department of Corrections and the Civil Service Commission for creating discriminatory job classifications in certain custodial jobs.

John Bell, Escanaba, director at large of the Association, said that all local groups, such as that in Escanaba, are in accord with the protest.

Under criticism by the Association is the recent pay differential granted only to employees who work within the walls of the State's penal institutions.

M. S. E. A. President Monte Mohr said, "the Board is unanimously in favor of the sorely needed pay adjustments for Correctional employees but this method of granting them is unfair and results in discrimination."

"The merit system principle is based on equal pay for equal work. The situation at our correctional institutions clearly violates this principle and cannot be accepted by the Association", said Mohr.

FALSE ALARM?

Maybe. On the other hand, these signals could indicate cancer. If one of these lasts more than 2 weeks, see your doctor. Fast.

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

Seven danger signals. Stay alert to them. And stay alive.
